A Guidebook for Teaching and Assessing 21st Century Competencies

By Al Summers

In my work as a Project Based Learning coach in northeast Indiana, I am constantly encouraging the teachers I work with to actively teach and assess 21st Century Competencies in their projects. This book does for teachers what a great travel guide does for tourists- it gives practical advice and methods for helping their students get where they need to be. This book and "PBL in the Elementary Grades" go wherever I go. My copies oftentimes "disappear"- which simply means that others are getting the benefits of the wisdom contained therein.

A Great How-To

By Telannia Norfar

My favorite books as a teacher are the ones that give me practical advice. There is also a lot of talk in education about developing 21st century skills but not a lot that tells you how. This book is the best I have found at giving practical advice on how to teach these skills to students. A must have in your library.
