This is a book for those who are looking for the absolute truth about this upside-down fantasy world of lies and deceit. This is the culmination of a 24 year study proving that living the absolute truth is the only way to survive, thrive and even find the true meaning of happiness and success. My proof is unshakable – not based on abstract concepts, but on thousands of hours of research and scientific data, including observation of tens of thousands of individuals over a half century – documenting what caused happiness or sadness, success or failure in life. These are the results of this study.

Open Challenge

By KJ

Rev Robinson (author of this book) has stated both in the book, as well on his website, that he remains open minded and if anyone can offer definite proof that challenges a statement or belief he shared in the book, he will indeed do further research on the matter and consider revising his original opinion.

So I am issuing such a challenge. In this book, the author states Rabbi Yitzhak Kaduri's note was obviously faked. The note basically said ????? (Yehoshua) was/is the Messiah. This indeed refers to Jesus Christ (or JC as the author uses in the book).

The challenge is that at least ten of Rabbi Yitzhak Kaduri's disciples (students) have come forward and have public stated (in several videos) that in the last several years of his life Rabbi Yitzhak Kaduri did indeed teach that the Messiah is Yehoshua. Rabbi Zev Porat has interviewed and posted videos of these interviews on YouTube as well as his website messiahofisraelministries.org

Seems to me, that having ten students come forward verifying the claim, shows the note was not faked. Will the author of this Book Absolute Truth (or many of his readers) indeed perform further research to verify the claims being made? Is the author as really open minded as he claims?
